2 WEEKS AGO

Rome, Italy

An imposing but elegant seafront property just 24 miles from Rome, La Posta Vecchia was once home to J. Paul Getty and is now a hotel richly decorated with marble busts of Roman emperors, 16th century Venetian chests and 17th century armchairs.

Choose to have your party in the garden with lunch served beneath muslin shades, or dinner by the Thyrennian sea at sunset. The library filled with 17th century tapestries and artwork from the Getty collection is up for grabs too, as is, unbelievably the opportunity to host a smaller dinner in their Roman excavations, surrounded by 124 BC mosaics.
